Wilson en Retrograde.

As for Wilson, it seems he didn't give much action for the $37,500 he expected to receive on leavi a the ring. Wilson loculd fight when he beat O'Dowd. Since that time he has followed the example of that other noted middleweight "champion" Al McCoy. This earnest gent happened, purely by accident, to swing a wild left and hit Champion Chip on the chin, for a clean K. O. After that, McCoy's ring career was as bogus as his name: he had appropriated the "McCoy" in place of "Rudolph" simply because "McCoy" had been made famous as a ring cognomen by the clever "Kid McCoy."

"Al McCoy" never tried to fight like a champion. He was rugged, like Wilson, an dfor years he stalled through short no-decision bouts, saving his title by letting the other fellow do all the fighting, his own sole ambition being to avoid a knockut.

It is a poor, cheap subterfuge for a champion, and no champion there are three of four that would left and no champion there are three of four that would left and hit Champion. Jack Dempsey, having no fighting to avoid a knockut.

A $1,000 Accident Policy Without Cost To Registered Readers of The Herald

And Protect Yourself Against

THIS

Through its news and editorial col-umns The Herald has consistently co-operated with agencies whose object is operated with agencies whose object is to reduce traffic casualties and other accidents. But all accidents can not be prevented. The Herald provides its Reader-Service policy so that its registered subscribers who may be so unfortunate as to suffer injury, and the dependents of those who meet death, are protected financially.

This insurance is every-day protec-tion for regular subscribers, old or new, and continues in force for every reader, if he registers, as long as he continues a subscriber to The Herald during the life of the policy which is sent to him.

The offer of this insurance adds nothing to the regular cost of the paper, and has no strings tied to it. The sole desire is t give regular readers of The Herald the benefit of protection for which every citizen of Washington has

There is no increase in The Herald's subscription rates because of this additional service.
